

I CLAIM:

1. A suck device for feeding favorite domestic animals comprising:

a bottle for containing fresh water and having a neck and 5 threads on outer periphery of the neck;

a lid having threads on inner periphery engaged with the threads of the neck;

an oblique pipette centrally extended from a bottom of the lid having a reduced outlet in free end, a ball movably
10 disposed into the oblique pipette and normally blocking the outlet and a water guiding pipe of predetermined length disposed into the oblique pipette communicating with the bottle and having a lower end stopped against the ball and an upper end reach to the bottom of the lid;

15 whereby, the water guiding pipe can smoothly and continuously guide the water flowing out of the outlet when an animal licks the outlet to actuate the ball and the water guiding pipe moving upward.

2. The suck device as recited in claim 1 wherein said outlet 20 may be replaced with a sealing ring.